John Lorn McDougall QC is an independent arbitrator associated with Arbitration Place in Toronto and 3 Verulam Buildings in London. Previously, he was a partner at Dentons Canada LLP and its predecessor law firms. His practice has encompassed almost all aspects of corporate and commercial dispute resolution. Mr. McDougall has appeared in a wide variety of complex cases in the courts and in arbitration. He has particular experience in securities, competition and energy-related matters, class actions and insolvency, as well as extensive experience in cross-border cases involving multi-national clients. He has sat as an international arbitrator since 1990 and has participated in a wide variety of commercial arbitrations in that period.

Mr. McDougall has served as chairman of the Canadian National Arbitration Committee of the International Chamber of Commerce and is presently a Canadian representative to the ICC Commission on Arbitration in Paris. He is a member of a number of other panels of international arbitrators including the London Court of International Arbitration, International Centre for Dispute Resolution where he sits on the ICDR Canadian Advisory Committee, the CPR Institute for Dispute Resolution, American Arbitration Association, Arbitration Association of Ontario, the ADR Chambers of Toronto and the panel of the Kuala Lumpur Regional Centre for Arbitration. He is an honorary overseas member of the Commercial Bar Association of England and Wales, a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers, a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators and is a chartered arbitrator. He is an honorary bencher of Middle Temple.

Mr. McDougall is a frequent speaker and author on legal and arbitration issues, both domestic and international.
