

PHILIP L. BRUNER
Arbitrator and Mediator
JAMS and JAMS International

Philip L. Bruner is a full-time arbitrator, mediator and resolver of engineering and construction disputes on the JAMS national and international panel of neutrals, and is Director of JAMS Global Engineering and Construction group of neutrals. He has chaired or served on many U.S. and international arbitral tribunals hearing large and complex construction and commercial disputes, and has mediated many multi-party disputes. See his CV at www.jamsadr.com, and www.jamsinternational.com.

Prior to joining JAMS on January 1, 2008, Mr. Bruner was a trial lawyer in private law practice for 40 years, the last 17 of which as a senior partner and founding head of the Construction Law Group of the international law firm of Faegre & Benson (now Faegre Baker Daniel) with offices then in Minneapolis and other U.S. cities and in London, Frankfurt and Shanghai.

Mr. Bruner is a Founding Fellow and past President of The American College of Construction Lawyers, Honorary Fellow of The Canadian College of Construction Lawyers, Fellow of the International Academy of Construction Lawyers, and Life Fellow of the American Bar Foundation. He also is a Chartered Arbitrator and Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators (London), Fellow of the College of Commercial Arbitrators, Overseas Member of Britain's Society of Construction Arbitrators (London), Fellow of The American College of Civil Trial Mediators, Certified Mediator of the International Mediation Institute (The Hague), and Fellow of the National Academy of Distinguished Neutrals.

Mr. Bruner's leadership contributions to the fields of dispute resolution and construction law are widely recognized. In 2011, Britain's Society of Construction Arbitrators honored him with its 2011 Norman Royce Prize. In 2005 the American Bar Association Forum on Construction Law honored him with its Cornerstone Award presented annually to one lawyer for "exceptional service to the construction industry, to the public and to the legal profession." Over the years, The International Who's Who of Business Lawyers has vetted him as one of the world's leading commercial arbitrators, commercial mediators and construction lawyers.

Mr. Bruner is co-author with Patrick J. O'Connor Jr. of Bruner & O'Connor on Construction Law (2002, updated annually), the 12 volume, 11,000 page legal treatise regarded as the most authoritative work ever written on American law governing construction. The treatise is cited by more than 400 judicial opinions of the federal, state, commonwealth and territorial courts of the United States. He also has authored or co-authored more than 50 published articles on construction law, dispute resolution and related subjects, has chaired many professional conferences, and has presented over 300 lectures to professional groups in North and South America, Europe, Asia, at locations such as Alnwick, Barcelona, Beijing, Calgary, Chicago, Halifax, Hong Kong, Istanbul, Kuala Lumpur, London, Los Angeles, Manila, Melbourne, New Delhi, New York, Nice, Princeton, Quebec City, San Francisco, Sao Paulo, Singapore, Stuttgart, Toronto, Vancouver, Warsaw and Washington DC.

As an adjunct professor of law at the University of Minnesota Law School and at Mitchell-Hamline Law School, he developed and taught their first construction law courses. Mr. Bruner is a graduate of Princeton University, the University of Michigan Law School, and the graduate school of business of Syracuse University.
